

Society hires ends hours

events that includes a telethon that the shelter hopes will net $100,000.

The shelter at 3015 Scioto Darby Executive Court will be open 2-7 p.m. weekdays and noon to 5 p.m. weekends.

The animal workers — a veterinary technician and a person to evaluate incoming animals — are essential for the shelter to be open more hours, said James Cunningham, the shelter's executive director.

A telephone operator to be hired by Feb. 1 should eliminate the frustration of dealing with an automated answering system, he added.

Please see SHELTER Page 2C

A NICE CHANGE, ON THE FACE OF IT

Fred Squillante/Dispatch

After years of painting nothing but flowers, Craig Carlisle felt his burnout was coming to a head. And it did. Many of them. For three years now, Carlisle has been painting his Big Heads series in his Grandview Heights studio. His current piece, center, is titled "Warrior Head."

METRO

ALL THIS FOR A BUCK

If it delivers nothing else, the lottery could win you a small part in a $1 million research project proposed by the governor / 4C

Obituaries / 8C

Lottery, vital statistics / 9C

Weather / 20C

Today's trash color: Navy

Monday's trash color: Pink